INTRODUCTION

The Arnold family in America is a large one. Thus far, however, no general or even partially complete genealogical record of the various lines has been published. The tables included here refer chiefly to only one line, that of Edward Arnold who was born perhaps in 1730-40, a descendant of the Rhode Island family. His immediate ancestry is uncertain.

The Redway family, on the other hand, is a small one, and the clan now seems to be diminishing rapidly in numbers. The direct ancestral line, however, is clearly traced back to James Redway I who reached Rehoboth, Massachusetts, in 1637, and there founded the American family.

Joseph Arnold I, son of Edward Arnold I, married as his second wife Betsy Earl, daughter of William Earl. But here again it has been impossible thus far to determine with complete certainty the further ancestral line, in spite of the most exhaustive search. Mrs. Charles W. Egan, working professionally, believes it to be probable that William Earle was born in 1759-60, and not in 1763, as his gravestone indicates. If this is true then his ancestry is clear as a member of the Secausus Earles. Thus far, however, no public records have been found of most of the contemporary members of William Earl's family, as found in the family records. The massive genealogy "Ralph Earle and his Descendants," compiled by Pliny Earle, lists several persons named William Earle, but none can be positively identified with William Earl, nor can the names of any others of his family be found.

Similarly, the ancestry of Charity Barrett, William Earl's wife, is undetermined. Family records clearly state that she was born in Peru, Vermont and after her marriage lived with William Earl in Kinderhook (Chatham), N.Y. but their names do not appear in the available public records of these places.

A few miscellaneous tables referring to other lines than those closely related to Edward Arnold, Comfort Redway and William Earle, have been included, as well as some collateral lines, chiefly because they have not previously been published.

It is unfortunate that the work on most of these tables was not seriously prosecuted until after the deaths of all members of the families closely related to the compiler. The information gathered has therefore been obtained by examining all the available written records of the family, and by correspondence with more distant relatives and others over a period of many months, as well as occasional recourse to the services of professional genealogists. I am especially indebted to Mrs. J.B. Painter for a vast amount of material about the Arnold, Darby, Brazie, and some other lines gathered from her voluminous records; to Mrs. E.B. Kresge, a professional who has collected much material about the Michigan Arnold families; to Mr Albert S. Redway for the lists of the descendants of Preserved Redway and other information about the Redway family; to Miss Helen M. Olmsted for a great part of the data about the descendants of Henry P. Darby; to Mrs. Alberta M. Trethewey, a professional, for a considerable amount of highly fruitful research into various ancestral lines; to Mrs. Charles W. Egan for her painstaking and exhaustive work on the ancestry of William Earl; and to many others who, although only distantly related, furnished much information willingly and to the best of their knowledge.

Every effort has been made to avoid errors, but it is not to be expected that none exists, for reports from various sources may at best sometimes be contradictory and are often uncertain. The information tabulated represents the best judgment of the compiler; but if mistakes are found, or additions and corrections indicated, information about them will be gladly received.

The matter of the best method for tabulating the various lines of descent was carefully considered. The method finally adopted is believed to be clear and comprehensive, although it does not follow the orthodox pattern. In brief, the ancestral line and name of the original stated ancestor heads the first section of each table. Children are identified by large Arabic numerals; grandchildren by small Roman numerals; and so on through capital letters, small letters, arabic numerals, and combinations of the latter two. Children of any descendant are tabulated in a subordinate position. When there has been more than one marriage the order of marriages is shown by a Roman numeral in parentheses; and the name of each child is usually preceded by the same numeral in parentheses as that of the respective mother. A brief examination of the tables will, it is believed, make the plan quite clear.

This edition is limited to only enough copies to permit distribution to the various contributors and a number of libraries and genealogical societies. No copies are for public sale by either the compiler or the publisher.

ARNOLD ANCESTRY

The following is Horatio G. Somerby's genealogy of the Arnold family from Ynir, king of Guentland, in the twelfth century:

YNIR¹---MEIRIC²---YNIR VICHAN³---CARADOR⁴---DYFNWALL⁵---SYSTYL⁶---ARTHUR⁷---MEIRIC⁸---GWILLIM⁹---ARNHOLT¹⁰---ARNHOLT¹¹---ROGER¹²ARNOLD (first of the line to adopt this surname)---THOMAS¹³ ARNOLD---RICHARD¹⁴ ARNOLD---RICHARD¹⁵ ARNOLD, lord of Bagbere---THOMAS¹⁶ ARNOLD, who m. Alice Gully---WILLIAM¹⁷ and THOMAS¹⁷ ARNOLD, who settled in Rhode Island.

Apparently some objection has been raised to this ancestry for William and Thomas Arnold. According to the "Magna Charta Line," William¹⁷ was the son of Nicholas¹⁶ Arnold, whose ancestry was Richard¹⁵---John¹⁴ (d. 1545)---Thomas¹³---Roger¹², as above, and these back to the "Third Earl of Norfolk, a Magna Charta Surety." Nicholas¹⁶ m. (1) Alice Gully, and (?) Grace---. William was the son of the first marriage, and Thomas was the son of the second.

A line of descent from Alfred the Great, b. 849 A.D., has been traced as follows: ALFRED---EDWARD---EDGIVA (m. King Charles III of France)---LOUIS IV of France---CHARLES---WIGERUS---BALDRICK TEUTONICUS---NICHOLAS de BASCHAVILLE de CHASE---WILLIAM de MARTEL, Earl of Warren---WILLIAM, First Earl of Surrey---WILLIAM, Second Earl of Surrey---Lady GUNDREDA de WARREN---WALDERAN, Fourth Earl of Warwick---Lady ALICE de NEWBURGH---Lady ISABEL de MANDUIT---WILLIAM VI, Baron of Beauchamp (d. 1298 A.D.)---Lady SARAH de BEAUCHAMP---Lady WILLIAM TALBOT---SARAH de TUBERVILLE---GILBERT de GAMAGE---Sir THOMAS GAMAGE---JOAN GAMAGE who m. Roger ARNOLD, great-great-grandfather of William and Thomas Arnold.

Another Thomas Arnold appears to have been in America in 1644, a cousin of Richard Arnold, a goldsmith of London, and not closely related to Thomas, son of Thomas or Nicholas. Some investigators consider him to have been the Thomas Arnold of Rhode Island, instead of the half-brother of William.

A pamphlet "The Genealogy of the Family of Arnold in Europe and America," by John Ward Dean, Henry T. Drown and Edwin Hubbard gives the following information about William and Thomas Arnold, hereafter called William¹ and Thomas¹.

WILLIAM¹ ARNOLD. B. June 24, 1557, son of Thomas¹⁶ or Nicholas¹⁶ Arnold and (1) Alice GULLY. M. Christian PEAK, who was bap. Feb. 15, 1583, daughter of Thomas PEAK. Alice Gully was bap. Sept. 29, 1553, daughter of John GULLY, and was bur. Apr. 25, 1596. Thomas¹⁶ and his family sailed from Dartmouth, Eng. May 1, 1635, and landed in New England on June 24 of that year. His son William¹ went to Providence on Apr. 20, 1636, where he became associated with Roger Williams; and on Nov. 19, 1651, he went to Newport. Benedict Arnold I, his son, was b. Dec. 3, or 21, 1615, became Governor of the Colony, succeeding

Roger Williams, and d. in 1678. Benedict II, son of Benedict I, had Benedict III whose son, Benedict IV, was the General in the American Revolutionary Army who later turned Royalist.

THOMAS¹ ARNOLD. Probably a half brother of William, above. Bap. Apr. 18, 1599. M. (1) in England; (2) about 1640 to Phebe PARKHURST, daughter of George PARKHURST of Watertown, Mass. Thomas Arnold settled in Watertown as early as 1640, and was in Providence before 1658. D. Mar. 24, 1674-5. Thomas² ARNOLD, b. May 3, 1625, was his son.

EDWARD ARNOLD I AND DESCENDANTS

EDWARD ARNOLD I was a descendant of the Rhode Island family of that name. He was born, probably in 1730-40, in Connecticut or Rhode Island, and is stated to have married Freelove PELHAM, but this has not been established. According to family tradition he moved from Connecticut to the vicinity of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., where he was known as "The Honorable Edward Arnold," but thus far an exhaustive research of the records in many localities in the eastern part of New York State has failed to disclose any mention of his name, and no family or public record of his death has yet been found, although a stone marked Freelove Arnold is in the Quaker Hill Cemetery, at Pawling, N.Y.

The immediate ancestry of Edward Arnold is not known, but family records repeat the statement that he came of the line of the Rhode Island Arnolds, William and Thomas, but not of the line of Benedict Arnold. The families of descendants of William and Thomas are for the most part well established, so that if the immediate ancestry of Edward Arnold is learned, his complete lineage can be easily determined. It is possible that he may have lived and died in some small village, now almost forgotten, and been buried in the cemetery lot on his own or a neighbor's farm. His stone, if he had one, may well have been neglected and covered over, or even used in the foundation of some later homestead. The honors he may have accumulated during his life could hardly be of great moment, or record of them would have been carefully preserved. It is possible that after spending some years in a small or isolated community in Eastern New York State, and on the departure of his sons into new territory to establish their own lives, Edward Arnold returned to his New England home to die. If, as is stated, he did indeed marry Freelove Pelham, it is difficult to understand how his connection with so important a family could have been forgotten.

The family record states positively that he was not of the line of Benedict Arnold. This may have been only wishful thinking, but no such Edward Arnold has been found in that line either. Indeed, it is possible that he may have been a derelict, or some nameless but sturdy product of New England connections, who broke away from the conditions of his early life to seek a fortune and family in new lands to the west, and to aid that determination took for his own an honorable new name and, if the records of his sons are to be believed, added honor to it.

Whatever his ancestry may have been, he did indeed found a new virile line. His descendants were a prolific clan, and they, too, were filled with the pioneering spirit that drove three, perhaps four, of Edward's five sons, to seek new fortunes in Michigan, then an untouched land with vast forests and a rich soil and a slowly growing population of prophetic ambitions.

WILLIAM EARLE ANCESTRY

Family tradition does not carry the ancestry of William Earl, father of Betsy Earl, beyond his own father who was also called William Earl. He is stated to have lived near Chatham, N.Y., married near there, and he and his wife Charity Barrett were buried near Durham, N.Y., where his stone gives his death date as 1844, "aged 81 years", making his birth year 1763. On the same stone Charity's death date is 1854, "aged 80 years", thus making her birth date 1774.

Careful and prolonged search of public records of many places in Eastern New York State has thus far utterly failed to locate either William, b. 1763, or Charity, and nothing more is known about them except that Betsy their daughter is stated to have been of low Dutch descent, and was called both an Earl and a Lord, though no explanation of the latter reference has been made.

The problem of the ancestry of William Earl was then entrusted to Mrs. Charles W. Egan, a skilled and careful genealogist. After as complete a study as seems humanly possible of the records of the Earle family in Eastern New York, Mrs. Egan became convinced that William Earl who according to his stone was born in 1763 was in fact William Earle, the third in line of that name, and born in 1759 or 1760, and a descendant of Edward Earle, founder of the Secausus branch of the family. Her reasons for this are (1) no William Earl b. 1763 can be found in any public or church records; (2) no Charity Barrett is located in the records, indicating that she must have come into the family from some other community; (3) William Earle b. 1760 obviously left his community early in life, for no further trace of him or his descendants can be found.

This conclusion is substantiated in part by written statements from two separate family sources that at death William Earl was 83 or 84 years old (instead of 81 as indicated by the stone) and Charity was 87, 86, or 84 years old, instead of 80. These statements throw a double doubt on the accuracy of the record on the stone, which is quite possibly in error, since it may have been set up some time after the actual deaths, and the inscription made up from hearsay, rather than written records.

It seems that, lacking any further evidence to the contrary, the Edward Earle ancestry may be accepted, in spite of the fact that the complete identity of William b. 1763 according to the stone with William III of the Edward Earle line is not definitely proved by written contemporary records.

Mrs. Egan's authorities are Hazard's Collections, Vols. I and II; Records of the Reformed Church of Bergen, N.J., and History of Hudson and Bergen Counties, Hazard, Vol. II; Bergen Church Records; Reformed Church Records, Tappan and Hackensack Reformed Church Records; and others.

In the following table Mrs. Egan's facts are supplemented by data from the History and Genealogy of the Earles of Secausus, by J. N. Earle (referred to below as "-S.").

JOHN EARLE. B. about 1560 in England. Came to Virginia about 1649 (-S.) and in 1652 received a grant of 1600 (1700, -S.) acres of land in Maryland. D. in 1660.

EDWARD EARLE I. B. 1627 (May 25, 1628, -S.) in England. M. Joanna --- (Hannah Baylis(?), -S.). Came to New Jersey in 1676, and bought the Island of Secausus (-S.). D. in 1711 (about Dec. 10, -S.) in New Jersey (aged 84 y., -S.). S. does not include an Edward among the children of John Earle, above.

Hannah Baylis(?) was perhaps b. about 1640, of English descent, and probably d. about 1729.

EDWARD EARLE II. Only child of Edward Earle I. (-S.). B. about 1658 (1665-8, -S. in Maryland. M. Feb. 13 (-S.), 1688 to Elsje (Alice) Vreeland, at Bergen, N.J. D. between May 28 and Aug. 27, 1713 at Secausus (-S.). She was bap. Nov. 12, 1671 (-S.), daughter of Enoch Michaelson and (1) Dircksje Frederica (Meyers) Vreeland, who were m. June 3 or 20, 1670 (all -S.). Enoch M. Vreeland was bap. Oct. 26, 1649, son of Michael Janson and Fytie Sophia (Hartman) Vreeland, was a member of the General Assembly of the Province in 1675, and d. probably Aug. 17, 1719. Michael J. Vreeland was b. in 1610 in Holland, arrived in Manhattan on Aug. 4, 1638, and d. in 1663 at Communipaw, N.J. Fytie S. Hartman was at Communipaw in 1679 and d. Sept. 21, 1697. (All--S.)

WILLIAM EARLE I. Fifth son of Edward Earle II. B. in 1703 (bap. Oct. 13, 1700 at Hackensack, -S.). M. (1) June 14, 1723 to Mary (Maria, Marye) Frans (Franz, French). He was the keeper of the Three Pigeons Tavern at New Durham, N.J. Mary Frans was probably the sister of Elizabeth who m. Edward III, brother of William I.

WILLIAM EARLE II. B. 1730 (bap. May 7 or 1, 1737, -S.). M. 1759 (1756, -S.) to Mitje Bos. D. 1827 She was the daughter of Hendrick Jansz and Maria Bos.

WILLIAM EARLE III. B. 1760 (May 7, 1759, -S.). Believed to be identical with William Earl who m. Charity Barrett and had Betsy and Submit Earl.

As compared with this line the family records show the father of William Earl who m. Charity Barrett to have been named William also, but his grandfather's name is not known. Many names of relatives appear in the family notes which can not be definitely associated with any of the Secausus line.

But data about the relatives of William II and William III above in the Secausus book are extremely meager, and it appears entirely possible that, as Mrs. Egan believes, either William III left his community, and even William II may also have done so, to build his family elsewhere, or that some of the relatives listed in the family records are only relatives by courtesy, for it has so often happened that friends of the same name may be called "uncle", "aunt", or "cousin." Until these names are found in public records their exact relation to William Earl and his descendants as indicated in the family records, must, however, be accepted as authentic.
